Dear Parents,

Bryntysilio Update regarding government restrictions

The English Government are keeping to the 17th May at this time, however it is not looking likely that the Welsh government will allow residential visits on this date.

However, all is not lost. There is a spare week on the 7th June at the centre in which Woodlands could go and it is possible that Welsh guidance will have changed by then.

We are hopeful that 17th May will continue to be our date. However, it may be the 7th June.

We are in an ever changing world at the moment and we have to keep responding to these changes. I will keep you updated as soon as I know more information which is likely to be the middle of next week.

I shall continue to keep everything crossed for our very excited Y6 children.

Yours sincerely,

T Newton
